History

George Garrard was a yachtsman from Carlton, South Yarra, Melbourne. He was the owner of SAYONARA when he joined Brighton Yacht Club. Garrard also owned the yacht AWANUI. He was an active member of the Royal Yacht club of Victoria. SAYONARA was designed in Scotland by William Fife III, and built by Alick MacFarlane. The Sayonara Cup was established to build on the intercolonial matches of the 1880s in Australia. The races were arranged by the Royal Yacht Club of Victoria and pitted the states of New South Wales and Victoria against one other.
